

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A method for backing up data in the working memory of a computer given an interruption of the power supply includes, whenever the computer is switched into a power saving mode, automatically storing data, which is in the working memory,
5 into a non-volatile memory.

MPW/nt